

We are on Course

- President Buhari at Edo University, Iyahmo

President Muhammadu Buhari has assured Nigerians that the All Progressives Congress (APC) led Federal Government was on track to fulfill its major campaign promises of ensuring security, fighting corruption and unemployment.

Speaking shortly after commissioning the new Edo State University, Iyahmo, and some buildings named after him on Tuesday, 8 November, 2016, the President emphatically stated that the Federal Government had rendered some measures of successes in all three key areas and asked for patience and understanding on the part of the citizens. He lamented that for so long “Nigeria has made the mistake of building a mono-economy that was solely dependent on oil and that the country was now paying dearly as the price of oil had doubled from $100 in the last few years to just over $40 today.

President Buhari said that it was incumbent on the country to return to the land and prospect for solid minerals in order to survive and leave a good future for our children, adding that “this is a time for hard work, this is a time for rebuilding Nigeria” and we “are pleased that people are understanding.”

The President expressed gratitude to God for abundant rain this year and the prospects for bountiful harvests. “If the rainy season had failed this year, I shudder to think of what would have happened,” adding that with hunger and poverty being experienced now, failure of the rain would have been a recipe for disaster.

The President had earlier on Monday, commissioned a number of projects executed by Comrade Adams Oshiomole in Benin City, including some roads, educational institutions and hospitals and commended the outgoing Governor for the quality of the projects which he described as very solid. He said

Governor Oshiomole was lucky to have served his two terms and had engraved his name in gold, in the history of the State.

President Buhari also congratulated the Governor-elect. Earlier, Governor Oshiomole had thanked the President for doing him and the State the honour of visiting and commissioning the projects.

Prof. Abubakar Rasheed
Executive Secretary, NUC

The Executive Secretary, National Universities Commission (NUC), Professor Abubakar Rasheed, nni, MFR, has said that with government's dwindling resources as a result of rising competing needs from other sectors, it has become imperative to further explore the public private partnership frontiers. He stated this in a paper he delivered as a Guest of Honour titled "Education as an Instrument of Change: Exploring the Public Private Partnership Frontiers, at the Commissioning of Edo State University, Iyamho Uzaire Edo State, on Tuesday 8 November, 2016.

He said: "The argument in favour of private universities continue to be strengthened by the aforementioned reasons as well as the stability of the academic calendars in private universities, moral education, student discipline, quality of academic programmes and a notion of elitism. Increasingly, the private university PPP model is creating competition in the tertiary education market and competing more favourably with the public sector for students. In turn, forward-looking public universities and government have more incentive to react to this competition by increasing the quality of the education that they provide.

We are often asked if there are other possibilities for PPP in university education. The answer would be in the affirmative. The continuum of the extent to which government can partner with the private sector can range from provision of infrastructure, staff development, student training and internships to teacher training, management and curriculum design.

In the area of infrastructure, PPPs are a useful way to increase the funding available for constructing or upgrading school buildings and often yield better value for money than traditional public sector investments. In such partnerships, the government could contract a private company to build and or maintain school buildings on a long-term basis, typically 25 to 30 years. In this type of PPP, the private sector supplier assumes responsibility for the risk inherent in the ownership and efficient operation of the project's facilities. The ripple effect of the provision of good student accommodation, on student safety and reduction of vices is invaluable. Thus, this method, which has proven successful in many OECD countries, exists to a lesser extent, in the Nigerian University System (NUS) and ought to be encouraged and strengthened further.

The private sector can also play very important roles in the provision of cleaning, catering and medical services. These set ups can in turn offer job and internship opportunities to students within the campus, particularly those who are self-funding or who are studying programmes related to these areas. Inherent in this level of partnership is an entrepreneurial focus, which universities are lacking, primarily due to the long tradition of over-dependence on government for funding and direction, limited enterprise functionality of academic publications, which tends to make universities' research outputs unattractive to the private sector and policy makers.

The Executive Secretary added that: the situation thus calls for the deployment of another level of PPP called the Triple Helix Model. The Triple Helix Model is premised on the understanding that universities, industry and government (Triple Helix) possess certain capabilities which they could effectively and collaboratively deploy for national growth and development, while maintaining their primary roles and distinct identities.

Nigerian HEIs, particularly universities, are expected to in a strategic position to pave way for the country's transition into the knowledge age. In this process, government leadership is critical in ensuring effective policy framework and implementation mechanism to guide towards the creation and sustenance of critical mass of world class educational institutions capable of generating relevant knowledge required by the industry and the society at large. This dynamic connectivity favours the transfer of knowledge and technology between universities/research institutions and industries/organisations for multiple benefits, including resolutions of social or economic problems as well as becoming a tool for well-informed policy formulation to foster growth and innovation.

Private sector input in curriculum design is also an area that can be explored further. The NUC set up the Labour Market Observatory Project as a feedback mechanism to guide curriculum review in the universities. The organised private sector, as part of the project, provided some needed guidance and basis for determining the courses, programmes and number of graduates required by the economy and to ensure that graduates ease faster into the workforce.

It is important to state here that we are also seeing the emergence of another kind of proposal for PPP in university education in Nigeria. Three state governments approached the NUC at the tail end of 2015 with proposals for partnerships between the states and private entities for the establishment of private universities. They are Eastern Palm University, Ogboko, Imo State; Edo University, Iyamho, Edo State and University of Africa, Toru-Orua, Bayelsa State. Of the three, he said, only Edo University, Iyamho has commenced the process of employing staff, seeking approval for its proposed academic programmes as well as meeting other requirements for commencement of full academic activities.

According to him, the proposal inspires hope that more room would be made for the teeming population of Nigerians who desire university education. NUC, is however, currently studying the finer details of the proposed model, bearing in mind the complexities inherent in the establishment, administration, management and financing of universities. These thorny issues he lamented if not resolved, could pose some challenges in the future.

For example, the Visitors to the Federal, State and Private Universities are clearly the President, the Governor and the Board of Trustees, respectively. In the proposed partnership arrangement, NUC is keen to ascertain the persons who will such a statutory role, the selection process and the roles of the partners in other intrinsic areas. He submitted that when we succeed as a Commission to resolve these issues, we may be seeing the start of a truly viable and fruitful partnership.

NUC Lists Borno State University as 44th State Institution

The National Universities Commission (NUC) has recognised Borno State University, Maidugiri, as the 44th State University and 153rd University in Nigeria. Presenting the Certificate of Recognition to the Governor, Hon. Kashim Shettima, on Monday, 7 November, 2016, the Executive Secretary, NUC, Professor Abubakar Rasheed, mni, MFR, expressed confidence that the Governor would not play politics with the Institution.

Professor Rasheed, said that his confidence stemmed from the antecedents of the Governor, which, he believed strongly, would be brought to bear on the university to make it a success story. He recalled that Hon. Shettima started his career as a lecturer and later moved to the banking sector before venturing into politics, where he served as Commissioner in five different Ministries in Borno State. This, he said enabled him to garner the experience which he had deployed to transform his state. He observed that this was the first conventional university to be established by the state.

The Executive Secretary observed that the preliminary report of the NUC-assessment team showed that the university was ready to commence academic activities. He, therefore, expressed NUC's willingness to assist it to succeed. He stated that, in line with its tradition, the Commission would write to relevant agencies like the Joint Admissions and

Bornor State Governor, Alh. Kashim Shettima receiving the letter of Recognition of Borno State University from the Executive Secretary, NUC, Prof. Abubakar Rasheed

Matriculation Board (JAMB) to include the University on its list of recognised institutions in the country, while the National Youth Service Corps (NYSC) would also be informed for the purpose of mobilisation of the students on graduation. He further stated that the Tertiary Education Trust Fund (TETFund) would also enlist the University, beginning from 2017, among benefitting institutions of its interventions, in line with the extant laws establishing the Fund. Professor Rasheed enjoined the University to start small and stick to the take-off Faculties, to enable it grows gradually.

Receiving the Letter of Recognition, the Executive Governor commended the NUC for standing out as a regulatory institution, describing it as a versatile and unsung hero of the Nigerian University System (NUS). He described the Commission as a great institution that was quietly building the nation's education sector. He particularly expressed profound appreciation to the Executive Secretary and his predecessors for helping the state to consolidate on the establishment of its university. He lamented, that in the face of a highly globalised and competitive economy, Borno State had been set back by 50 years, due to the Boko Haram attacks from which the state suffered heavy casualties. He recounted that more than 3,500 classrooms were destroyed by the insurgents in Borno, a state that had a great history of learning.

Governor Shettima however, expressed optimism that his administration's restoration agenda would ensure rapid development of the state. He promised to continue to invest in the state's education sector. Education, he said, could not be overlooked as it is an enabler and greatest key to solving the many challenges of youth unemployment. The state government, he said, realised that more youths and skills were required to enable it measure up to others. As a result, he began the process of establishing the university since 2013, beginning with the Approval of the University Law by the State House of Assembly. He said soon after it was gazetted, his Government invested over N4billion in the construction and development of the physical facilities of the university. He disclosed that his administration had plans to establish two more universities before the expiration of his tenure, one of which might be a specialised one, to cater for the needs of Borno indigenes.

While pledging that the University would be one of the best in Nigeria, the Governor thanked the Executive Secretary and the NUC Management for the roles played in ensuring that Nigerian Universities are globally competitive. The documents submitted by the Governor were the University Law, passed by the State House of Assembly; Academic Brief and Physical Master Plan.

NATIONAL UNIVERSITIES COMMISSION IPSAS IMPLEMENTATION

Nexia
Agbo Abel & Co

Introduction:

The Federal Executives Council at its meeting held on 28th July 2010 approved that Nigeria should adopt the provisions of the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS) for Private and Public Sectors respectively.

Consequently, the Federation Accounts Standards Allocation Committee (FAAC) at its meeting held on 13th June 2011 setup a Sub-Committee to provide a roadmap for the implementation of IPSAS in the three tiers of government in Nigeria.

The Roadmap to the adoption of IPSAS was phased as follows:

- Full Adoption of IPSAS Cash effective from 1st January, 2014.
- Adoption of IPSAS Accrual effective from 1st January 2016.

The National Universities Commission (NUC) has commenced the IPSAS implementation project that will enable a seamless adoption of the IPSAS accrual in the preparation and presentation of Financial Statements in line with the directives of Federation Accounts Allocation Committee (FAAC) Sub-Committee on implementation of IPSAS.

Implementation Approach:

NUC is partnering with Nexia Agbo Abel & Co, to adopt a phased implementation approach which shall focus on the following areas;

- Regulatory Compliance
- Technical Accounting & Reporting
- Knowledge & Resource Management
- Process, Technology & Infrastructure

• Results Based Management
• Easy Comparison
• Competitive Advantage

• Quality
• Consistency
• Comparability

IPSAS

• Transparency
• Accountability

Expected Benefits:

At the end of this implementation project, NUC's financial reporting is expected to be fully IPSAS accrual compliant in line with the directive. This will ensure greater level of transparency, accountability and consistency in financial reporting just like similar Public Sector Entities (PSE), high-quality financial statements based on globally acceptable standards and audit efficiency.

ADVERTORIAL

CONFIRMATION OF APPROVAL OF THE NIGERIAN UNIVERSITIES e-LEARNING PROGRAMME

The general public is hereby informed that whereas the Commission maintains its stand that online degrees are not accepted in Nigeria at the moment, this does not include the approved Nigerian Universities e-Learning Programme run within the shores of Nigeria.

The Nigerian Universities e-Learning Programme is a legitimate and well thought out pilot e-learning initiative. It is a Public Private Partnership between the National Universities Commission (NUC), Park Associates E-Learning Group, and four federal universities. Its goal is to provide new opportunities for students to access university education in Nigeria.

The four Participating Universities are:

- i. University of Uyo;
- ii. National Open University of Nigeria;
- iii. Usmanu Danfodiyo University, Sokoto; and
- iv. University of Maiduguri.

Students enrolled in the Programme can select any of the following undergraduate degree programmes: Economics, Banking & Finance, Accounting, Business Administration and Marketing for which they have requisite qualifications. The Programme for now is only available for candidates who wish to obtain BSc Degree in Economics.

The Commission wishes to use this medium to allay all fears and doubts concerning the legitimacy or NUC endorsement of the Nigerian Universities e-Learning Programme. This is one of the avenues that the National Universities Commission is exploring to increase access to university education without compromising quality. Students in the Programme are therefore advised to continue to pursue their studies without fear and prospective applicants are encouraged to enrol. Concerned parents, guardians, students and the general public may contact the Commission for further clarification on the Programme under reference.

NATIONAL UNIVERSITIES COMMISSION

IMPLEMENTING STEPS FOR NEW MEDICAL SCHOOLS, ACCREDITATION ISSUES AND THE NEW MINIMUM BENCHMARK (2015) FOR THE MBBS/BDS PROGRAMMES

PROGRAMMES

Following several Stakeholders' meetings in the last two years and as a prelude to the formal release of the New Minimum Academic Benchmark (2015), proprietors of Medical and Dental Schools in Nigeria (both current and prospective) are requested to note the following implementing steps including relevant adjustments relating to accreditation of Medical/Dental Schools.

1. From 1st September 2015, both current and prospective proprietors of Medical and Dental Schools should:
 - a. Write a letter to the Executive Secretary stating their intent and provide relevant information as available.
 - b. On receipt, (if NUC has no obvious reasons to disqualify the application), they would be sent a copy of the BMAS for MBBS/BDS and advised firmly to ensure that they are strictly complied with.
 - c. The setting up of medical schools is not an emergency exercise. To this end, prospective proprietors must own and have in place (prior to a request for a Resource Verification), a fully functional and well run tertiary type hospital. In the circumstance of the above not being in place, consideration for an affiliation with a tertiary government-owned institution may be given only when the said university owns a medical institution fully functional with a minimum of 150 beds and a rural health medical unit. (See Appendix 4 of the BMAS).
 - d. A Pre-clinical Accreditation would be expected to take place within two years of a positive Resource Verification. Students can only sit for the second MBBS professional examination (Anatomy, Physiology and Biochemistry) when they have a successful preclinical accreditation. The preclinical accreditation would, amongst others, concentrate largely on the Department of Anatomy, Biochemistry, Physiology, Pathology and Pharmacology and to a lesser extent, Community Health. All evaluated departments must have the minimum requirements in terms of academic staff, non academic staff and laboratory facilities. (See Appendix 3 of the BMAS)
 - e. The Commission has now approved a Clinical Accreditation expected to take place within twelve months of a successful preclinical accreditation. Subsequent to that, a reaccreditation exercise will take place every five years.
2. With respect to established medical schools, (and irrespective of their accreditation status), it should be noted that only institutions that (by the deadline of March 20th, 2016) have requested and obtained formal approval from the National Universities Commission for a re-evaluation based on the following considerations would be allowed to admit students into the MBBS/BDS programmes from the 2016/2017 academic year:

- a. All Medical and Dental schools must have an approved, and appropriately utilized, Clinical Skills/Simulation centre.
- b. Ensure strict adherence to the proper use of the course system for all approved programmes in Nigerian Universities. The implication of the above is that a particular programme (subject) is taught not only broken into cluster units of 1-4 but also have the components of university supervised examinations. For clarity, current end of posting examinations (practiced by some medical/dental schools) that neither have units allocated nor follow the standards of a University examination, do not conform to the Minimum Academic Standards as established by the National Universities Commission.
- c. Universities are strongly urged to immediately review their current methods of teaching medical and dental students to include more tutorials, self study group teaching, use of IT in the delivery of courses and simulation/competency based evaluations that must be signed by a lecturer not below the status of a senior lecturer. It must be noted that the confirmation of a successful simulation/competency based evaluation should be a mandatory requirement before the students are eligible to sit for the various professional/sessional examinations
3. Proprietors are urged to note the Essential Component changes of the new curriculum expected to be in use from the 2016/2017 academic session. Details of these changes are available in the New Minimum Academic standards booklet and at the National Universities Commission website. (www.nuc.edu.ng) Major components include the following:
 - (a) The approval of three alternative models viz;
 - i. A seven year MBBS/BDS programme that encompass a mandatory seamless four-year acquisition of the B.Sc. (Basic Medical Science) with interest in either Anatomy/Physiology/Biochemistry. At the end of seven years, students would have acquired the Bachelor of Basic Medical Science, Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery degrees. In case of the dental programmes, the students would have acquired a degree in Basic Dental Science and Bachelor of Dental Surgery.
 - ii. In order to allow for career change for interested non-medical health professionals, the Commission has also approved a four year programme leading to MBBS/BDS for interested and qualified graduates of Nursing, Pharmacology, Physiotherapy, Image Science, Paramedics, Anatomy, Physiology, Biochemistry and Pharmacology. It must be noted for such to be considered for admission they must have at the WAEC/NECO levels minimum credit scores in Mathematics, English, Physics, Chemistry and Biology at one sitting, prior to the admissions for their first degrees. They must also have a good CGPA.
 - iii. Admission into universities based on the current six year programme would be allowed to continue as suitable alternative based on the discretion of the University.
 - iv. It should be noted and emphasized that all the above degrees have the Bachelor appellation as they remain undergraduate programmes.
 - (b) Specific periods of posting to the department of Family Medicine. The obvious implication here is that, the Universities should create the Department of Family Medicine following their due process.
 - (c) Redesignation of the Department of Pharmacology to the Department of Pharmacology and Therapeutics. The department is now expected to provide relevant basic clinical teaching and conduct relevant professional examination in Pharmacology. They will also be expected to provide relevant clinical teaching in Therapeutics. All Universities should set in motion the machinery to achieve the above.
4. In view of the above essential component changes of the new curriculum, the Commission will be organising a National training for Medical teachers in Nigerian Universities. Details of the training would be made available shortly.
5. Interested stakeholders are invited to send comments/suggestions on the above to: The Executive Secretary, NUC, rasheed3h@gmail.com and copy to chiedu.mafiana@gmail.com

List of Universities with Approved Postgraduate Programmes

The National Universities Commission (NUC) has observed with great concern that some Nigerian universities are running unapproved postgraduate programmes, leading to the award of Masters and PhD degrees. The Commission has also observed that some Parastatals and Institutes are awarding these same Postgraduate degrees, either on their own or through unapproved affiliations with Nigerian and foreign Universities. Such practices are not only unethical, but also antithetical to time-tested quality assurance best practices. The qualifications/awards resulting therefrom are not recognized. The Commission hereby notifies the general public that only the following universities have approval to offer postgraduate programmes at the Masters' and Ph.D levels in Nigeria, as of 30th July, 2012:
